

Where will you spend your summer?

**People across the country
can't stop talking about Flagstaff, Arizona.*

During the summer months, while the weather in your city is making you sweat from head to toe and keeping you indoors, Flagstaff is experiencing mild temperatures perfect for outdoor activities.

During the summer weeks, while people in your city get stuck in traffic jams and race against time, Flagstaff is setting a leisurely pace and offering visitors a relaxed lifestyle.

During the summer days, while the buildings in your city stretch for miles, surrounding you, and blocking your view of nature, Flagstaff is being surrounded by pine tree forests and lush vegetation as far as the eye can see.

During the summer hours, minutes, and seconds you're away from your city, you won't even be thinking about the time. Flagstaff has a way of doing that to people. But come discover it for yourself.
